The image shows an open manuscript with two pages of handwritten text. The left page is numbered '1' and the right page is numbered '2'. The text is written in a cursive script, likely from the 17th or 18th century. The paper is aged and slightly discolored. The handwriting is dense and fills most of both pages. The binding of the book is visible in the center crease.

The image shows two pages of a notebook titled "Register of Daily Attendance & Participation of Students".

Left Page:

- Header: "Register of Daily Attendance & Participation of Students"
- Columns: "Name", "Date", "Attendance", "Participation".
- Content: A list of names and dates, with some entries marked with checkmarks or initials.

Right Page:

- Header: "Register of Daily Attendance & Participation of Students"
- Columns: "Name", "Date", "Attendance", "Participation".
- Content: A grid for recording attendance and participation, with rows for each student and columns for each day of the week.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the physical fitness of 10-year-old children. The study was conducted in a primary school in Ankara, Turkey. The study group consisted of 20 children (10 boys and 10 girls) who were randomly selected from the 10-year-old children in the school. The children were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group did not participate in any physical education program, while the experimental group participated in a 10-week training program. The physical fitness of the children was measured at the beginning and at the end of the 10-week period. The measurements included maximum heart rate, maximum oxygen consumption, and maximum power. The results showed that the experimental group had significantly higher values for all three measurements at the end of the 10-week period compared to the control group. These findings suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the physical fitness of 10-year-old children.
